CUBE ON_ICO FAQ

Q: What is the hardcap and what is the total token supply?

A: 35,000 ETH (hard cap) was raised for 60.2% of our CUBE ON tokens. There is a total supply of 1 billion CUBE ON tokens.

Q: What was the price of the CUBE ON token in your ICO?

A: The price of CUBE ON to ETH is fixed, where  $1\text{ETH} = 17,200\text{CUBE ON}$

Q: When will you be listed on exchanges?

A: The team strictly cannot comment on exchanges unless it was previously publicly announced information. Refer to our announcement channel <https://t.me/cubeon> for official news.

Tokens have been transferable September 17th, 2018.

Q: I'm interested in running a node in the dark pool network, how much needs to be staked and how does it work?

A: To run a node a 'bond' must be staked to prevent against bad actors. This amount will be 100,000 CUBE ON. This amount is indicative of the mainnet requirement but amount will only be 100% confirmed once testing/feedback from the testnet period is complete.

Rewards are paid to the nodes in the form of fees paid by the traders for the work done matching orders. See <https://wooriapt.github.io> for more general explanation.

Extensive details will be released closer to the testnet launch — read introduction to nodes here:

Q: I'm interested in working on the Republic Protocol, how can I collaborate?

A: CUBE ON is an open source project. More extensive documentation will be released once the protocol is more mature, which will explain all of the mechanics of the protocol in depth for developers. Requests for Comments and Pull Requests will also be able to be made on our github.

We are also always looking for developers, contact dany.me.park@gmail.com with your Github/Experience/links to past projects.
